On 9 October 2026, Hong Kong Customs attended the annual meeting of the Customer Liaison Group for SMEs (SMECLG) of the Trade and Industry Department (TID) held at the TID Tower. Officers from Hong Kong Customs introduced the characteristics and application procedures of "Hong Kong Authorized Economic Operator (AEO) Programme" and other trade facilitation programmes, and also shared the benefits the programmes offer to businesses, including reduced Customs inspection, prioritized Customs clearance and preferential tariff, helping SMECLG members gain a deeper understanding of these programmes. To maintain Hong Kong's status as an international trading and logistics hub, Hong Kong Customs strives to strike the right balance between effective law enforcement and efficient trade facilitation. In line with this commitment, Hong Kong Customs actively promotes the Hong Kong AEO Programme to assist SMEs in strengthening supply chain security and internal management. Through being recognized as AEO, enterprises can prove themselves to be Hong Kong Customs' trusted partners, thereby enhancing their reputation and competitiveness in the global market.
